

Creativity often lies in calmness. In these days of the Corona crisis, KAREEN completely changed her plans and decided to spontaneously release her second single. Everything had been planned in another way. A song and a video from the crisis for the crisis emerged: Kareen invited her friends and family to send her videos out of quarantine - she put everything together et voilà - the video for the second single was ready. Point-blank, touching and genuine. Full of life.

The song "Everything" could not be better suited to the current situation: Kareen describes how we should take care of and treat each other. One way or another, we're all connected. Listen carefully, read between the lines, feel our interpersonal relationships again. And everything in slower motion.
